Subject: Thanks for Your Help

Brian,

I want to thank you again for your assistance in a "dicey" well control situation--I certainly appreciated having you there, a phone call away, and the help and advice that you gave us. The well-on-diverter situation at Moquawkie 4 was one that I had no real-time, up close experience with in my 34 years in the oil patch. Having attended your seminar at HRH a few months ago, I kept your card handy, and the call to you at 6:30 AM was the first one I made to anyone outside the company. I knew how the well control system was supposed to work, but never having been there personally, it was very helpful to have your experience, suggestions, and direction to support us and to give us confidence that we were doing the right thing. Additionally, your reference to Wild Well Control and the technical support that we received from them was also helpful. The end result of your assistance was a well back in control within a day and at minimal well control cost. While we expect to have some cleanup costs associated with the use of the diverter, even those were minimized by getting things under control quickly.

Thanks again for your prompt response, good advice, and just for being there when we needed your wisdom and experience.

Ed Jones
